RIOTING SAILORS

WILL BE PUNISHED Daniels Orders That They Be Given Lesson for Part in

Seattle Affair. Washington, August 20 .- Secretary Daniels has directed the punishment of the sailors of the Pacific reserve fleet who participated in the destruction in the Industrial Workers of the World and Socialists' property in Seat-

The secretary's action was based Seattle there had been attacks upon the flag, the government and particularly upon the army and navy in the Pacific seaport cities by people calling themselves members of the Industrial Workers of the World, and to some extent by so-called "socialists." The civil authorities, the report said, allowed speakers to harangue crowds and engender ill-feeling, resulting in the attack upon the soldiers and two sailors July 17. This led to the burning and destruction of property on the following night.

The board placed direct responsi-bility for the action of the crowd, led by civilians and including only a small proportion of enlisted men, upon the failure of the police force to prevent the destruction of property because of their sympathy with the purposes of the crowd. Furthermore, the board expressed the opinion that the rioting was attributable to general sentiment against the Industrial Workers of the World, and the criticism of the press and that the presence of enlisted men was made to serve the purpose of acelement of people desired and the press encouraged. In passing upon this report, which was transmitted by Rear-Admiral Rey-nolds, Secretary Daniels declared that while the conduct of those who denounced and assaulted soldiers was most reprehensible and deserving con-demnation, "their violent language, unprovoked assult on soldiers and law-lessness does not justify retaliation in

The secretary recalled his statement in a speech in Seattle that obedience to authorities in respect of the flag must precede any reforms. He ex-pressed regret that the sailors had permitted themselves to forget their duty to uphold the law which they had sworn to uphold, and added that their conduct in Seattle was against the naval regulations and couldn't be con-doned or allowed to go without pun-

Admiral Reynolds was directed to have the secretary's letter read on the ships of the fleet, and to have the men engaged in the affair punished in such a manner as the admiral may judge is adequate for the offense.

So far as known, none of the sallors participating in the affair have been identified.

You have more chances of getting the correct title to a picture when you submit seven or eight or nine or ten answers than if you make only one attempt to solve each picture.

That is a reasonable proposition, and it is something you should consider carefully. It was simply because there might, perhaps, be a disposition on the part of some to rely on luck or chance if only one answer were allowed to each picture that this newspaper permits you to make ten answers to each one. If you want to take a long, long chance, then slap down an answer to each pic-ture, and let it go at that. But if you want to make just as sure as you can of submitting a winning set—if you want to submit the full result of your ingenuity and shrewdness—better put down all the titles you believe might fit the pictures. You cannot say from what point of view the person who had the pictures drawn looked at them any more than he could tell from what point of view you would regard them. Better get ten grips on that first award.
